Nobody could capture the Phantom. She was the wildest mare on Assateague Island. They said she was like the wind, that the white “map” on her shoulders was her mark of freedom.

Paul and Maureen Beebe had their hearts set on owning her. They were itching to buy and tame her, and worked hard to earn the money she would cost. But the roundup men had tried to capture her and for two years she escaped them...

I recommend this book to people who like adventures and horses. I personally think that this a heartwarming book because many great things happen to most of the characters and it is just makes me so emotional. My favorite part is in the middle of the book where it starts to get exciting.
