

Redwood Middle School Presents

The First Ever 2020-21 Literary Magazine

If you are looking for a way to express yourself through writing or art on a deeper level to an audience of your peers, then we have a platform for you! The student editorial staff and I, teacher advisor Mrs. Joly-Cause, are proud to announce the newly established Redwood Middle School Literary Magazine.

We cannot create this magazine without you, so we need original pieces of writing, art, or photography from students and faculty. Although the student editors prefer narrative writing, we also recognize that your passion for writing may be best expressed through non-fiction pieces. Artwork other than photography will need to be scanned and submitted as a jpg. Digital art is also acceptable when presented in jpg format.

We would like to start by hosting a “naming” contest for our first publication. More information about how to submit your writing and artwork will be coming, but in the meantime, help us out by nominating a theme and title for Redwood Middle School’s new Literary Magazine adventure.

Please use this link (<https://tinyurl.com/yyhfhv9e>) to submit your ideas. You will need to be logged into your Google Learn Account to access the form.

Thank you and you will hear from us soon!

Your Student Editors,

Sydney C. Ben C. Andrew F. Alyssa H. and Honey M
