Course Description:

First Responder course description:

The First Responder course is the first of two courses in the Public Safety Career Pathway.

The course introduces students to the world of emergency medical technologies and some basic rescue techniques. The class utilizes a national Emergency Medical Responder and the American Red Cross curriculum. This class combines hands-on activities with reading and test taking.

Students will have the opportunity to earn the Red Cross certifications CPR training. Additional Red Cross certifications may include: Basic Life Support, Standard First Aid, Bloodborne Pathogens Training, Babysitter's Training, California Child Care, CPR for Professional Rescuers, Emergency Medical Response, Hands-Only CPR, and Lifeguarding. Other certifications such as Stop the Bleed may also be available.

Students who seek to complete this career pathway must first take this course and pass with a grade of "B" in order to be recommended for the capstone course: Emergency Medical Technician.

The class requires the students to be self-starters, be comfortable working in groups, both large and small, and to keep a mature mindset as we learn about and practice caring for sick and injured people.

See instructor for complete details. This class may include a lab fee.
